A CONTINUOUS STRUGGLE. 2:-On the British front no action on a great scale such as that at Verdim, has nevertheless our troops have been far from idle or inactive. Although the struggle, in a general sense has not been intense, it has been everywhere continuous, and there have been many sharp local actions. TPRES AND THE BLUFF.

During the period 8th to 19th February the enemy displayed increased activity in the Ypres salient, and carried out series of infantry attacks, preceded, se rule, by intense bomberdment, and by been fought during the past five months, the explosion of mines. These attacks may, no doubt, be regarded as a subsidiary operation, designed partly to secure local points of vantage, but probably also to listract attention from the impending operations near Verdun, which began on the 21st February ------

After several days' heavy shelling over the whole of our line in this area. first attack took place on 12th February north of Ypres. A bombing attack was lounched by the Germans in the early morning, and they succeeded in capturing Artillery and snipers are practically our trenches Our counter stack, however, which was immediately organized, the lines every night, and heavy bombard- enabled us to clear our trenches of the this is taking place constantly at any hour the operations our position in this part of the day or night, and in any part of of the line remained intact, except that two isolated trenches of no teotical quently obliterated by our artillery fire. The at operation was opened by heavy rife and machina-gun fire timer cover of which the gas was released. Immediately afterwards a neavy barrage or curtain of artillery fire, was placed on three parts of this area, and eight infantly attacks were lumched. Of these sttacks only attempt, failed to zeach the German two penetrated our trenches; one was immediately repelled, while the other was driven out by a counter attack after about 40 minimist occupation. The onemy's folject would appear to have been the destruction of mine shalts, as a charge of gun-cotton was found unexploded in a disused shaft, to which the enemy had penetrated. But if this was his object he was completely unsuccessful.

> Similar attacks, were made by the Germans in front of Vermelles, to the south of La Bassee, on the 27th and 29th April, the discharge of a highly codcentrated gas being scoompanied by bombardment with lachrymatory and other shells and the explosion of a mine. On the first occasion two minor infantry attacks penetrated our trenches, but were driven out simost immediately; on the second occasion s small attack was repulsed; but the more serious advance which appears to have been intended was probably rendered impossible by the fact over his own lines, to the visible confusion of his troops, who were messing for line the attack.

London, June 80. Reuter's Correspondent at Head quarters says the troops are in the highest spirits as a result of the received. on netivity following upon the inaction during the winter, and are very, keen to make rushes upon the enemy

The troops officially mentioned as doing especially well include the Highland Light Infantry, the Australians, the Lancashire Fusiliers, the Liverpools and the Oxford and Bucks Infantry.

A brilliant exploit was that of the damage his ship has sustained. Highlanders who pierced the enemy front at Vermelles, and after a prodigal employment of buyonets and "grenades and various fancy weapons, brought back 46 prisoners and two machine-guns. Only two Highlanders were wounded.
